Dear Mindbody,

I would like to reciprocate your interest in a creative design intern, it would be my pleasure to develop my design skills further as a member of your company during the summer of 2022. Having a strong base of understanding with Adobe creative suite and having some familiarity with adobe creative suite I know that I would orientate myself to not only be an asset to this team but to absorb as much as I can.

For the past two school semesters I have been developing small side projects within Adobe creative suite while spending numerous hours watching tutorials just to hone my skills. Although my major is more computer orientated, often it is how much design goes into coding and computer technology for example I have developed many side projects in blender that can intergrade into a web browser. To better illustrate my drive for the past 8 months I have been keeping a written log of all my progress/designs. Moreover, I find web development to be a process that takes great organization skills, and it also garnishes the ability to seek feedback from others whenever a technical issue occurs.

Thank you for your time and consideration. Please contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
Garrett Washington
